

Fw: W2W Fwd: Next Week's Schedule

To:

Wed, Sep 23, 2026 at 5:24 PM

Get Outlook for iOS

From: AutoForward@m1.WhenToWork.com <AutoForward@m1.WhenToWork.com>
Sent: Wednesday, 23 September 2026 16:21:38
To:
Subject: W2W Fwd: Next Week's Schedule

This message originated outside the UO email ecosystem.

Use caution with links and attachments. Learn more about this email warning tag.

Report Suspicious

University Catering

WhenToWork.com message from Steve Patterson at University Catering forwarded at your request.

Good Afternoon All,

I am preparing to publish the work schedule for next week, but before I do I'd like to provide some context. Our classified staff union SEIU, has declared their intent to strike beginning Monday 9/28. It is their right to do so and we are all hoping for a quick resolution to the outstanding issues. In the mean time, we have cancelled all catering events for the upcoming week. Feeding the First Year students and all of the others who have a meal plan is the highest priority for UO Dining Services. So, you all are being scheduled to work in the dining units next week. Our ability to serve your fellow students relies on you reporting to your scheduled shifts and helping as best as you can. We are all part of the same team. This week, we have several dining staff coming to catering to help fill our schedule gaps. Without their help we would struggle to take care of our clients and their guests. Now you have the opportunity to help fill their gaps next week. I understand that helping in the dining units is not preferred, but it is important. Let's be team players and show the dining venues how awesome our catering staff is.

Thank you for you dedication to UO Dining and our newest Ducks,
Steve

Confirm That You Received This Message

WhenToWork, LLC

Note: You received this message because someone entered your email address into our WhenToWork scheduling system.
If you do not want to receive these messages, click Unsubscribe.